Kevin Nichols is a Philadelphia-based DJ, event producer, and entrepreneur who has built a reputation for creating premium entertainment experiences and successful event brands. Through a combination of strategic marketing, audience development, and high-level execution, Kevin has become a recognized name in nightlife, hospitality, and live events garnering over10.7k followers and over 1 Million monthly impressions on Instagram. As the founder of Club Haus and creator of Soleá, Philadelphia's largest summer yacht party series, Kevin has successfully produced and sold out multiple events, attracting hundreds of attendees and establishing Soleá as one of the city's premier lifestyle experiences. Following its success in Philadelphia, the brand is now expanding into additional markets including West Palm Beach, Atlantic City, and additional destinations nationwide.

Kevin has opened for internationally recognized artists including James Kennedy, Joel Corry, and Lost Kings, while performing at premier venues, destination events, and hospitality properties throughout Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Nashville, Costa Rica, Michigan, and beyond. His experience spans nightlife venues, luxury hospitality properties, branded activations, corporate events, destination experiences, and large-scale entertainment productions. In addition to his work as a performer, Kevin has built Club Haus into a leading lifestyle and entertainment platform, generating millions of impressions through original content, partnerships, and live events. Through the platform, Kevin has developed long-term partnerships with major brands and personalities, including two-time UFC champion Conor McGregor and his Forged Irish Stout brand.

Known for his ability to build audiences, create demand, and execute memorable experiences, Kevin brings a unique combination of entertainment, marketing, and event production expertise that makes him a valuable partner for venues, brands, and event operators looking to elevate their programming and reach new audiences.
